Roosevelt and Smith.
Warburg's Death.
Unfinished Job.
On Their Heads.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

HEARST RANCH, San Simeon, Jan. 25—John J. Raskob has issued official call for the Democratic national convention at Chicago June 28.

Mr. Roosevelt has officially announced it is his duty to run, if the party want him, "but please don't expect me to neglect my New York duties."

Governor Smith has refused to say about what Governor Roosevelt says, nothing to indicate his own possible candidacy. Both Roosevelt and Smith, however, regard as dark horse.

DEATH of Paul M. Warburg is a serious loss to American finance and high grade business. He supported conservatively consistently, rendered great service in founding and organizing of the Federal reserve bank, and set an example in the wise use of wealth.

• • •

TODAY'S EXCITING news is serious rebellion in the Dartmoor prison, 600 prisoners part, fighting police with table legs and stools, and the courage of 50 men with staves, no revolvers, suppressed the rebellion, seems to have been based on an escape plan. British journals point at once how many German prisoners were at Dartmoor. There was none.

Buildings were burned, including one frame building that was used to house American prisoners during the war.

• • •

Future historians, will record that Hoover failed to make a complete job of preparing the extent to which we have run our treasury by failure of our defense plans, and our immigration states during the last 10 years.

• • •

SAMUEL UNTERMYER, who represents a New York district in the house of representatives and the state of Virginia in his own person, likes Will Rogers because he is so American.

Untermyer telephoned him on the telephone from Paris to say, "Will, you MUST come to Russia again."

When Rogers asked why, she replied, "To see a hundred million people standing on their heads."

• • •

CANADA, England and this country are sending gunboats and troops to the little Central American republic of San Salvador yesterday to suppress a revolution of Communists on the Russian plan. Canadian boats arrived first, England next.

At the same time, Spanish troops and government airships were busy trying to control a "Soviet" revolt called in many Spanish provinces.

Europe is really beginning to pay for the war, into which we hopped so gaily, with our men and our money.

Latest item was what we called Spanish influenza, that killed millions. The next was the world depression, now lifting, we hope. The third is this Soviet movement in Russia and its uprisings, so disturbing to our best minds.

• • •

THE AVERAGE uninformed American believes that Russia deliberately butchered a kind czar and his family, abandoning a future of national bliss for the horrors of communism.

Those who will read, in Von Bulow's recently published memoirs, the diplomatic history in which he tells of the czar's visit to the Russian court, will learn with amazement that modern Russia is as mild as a cup of warm milk, compared with the court life of the czars and grand dukes.

KIDNAP GANG TRICKED INTO FREEING MAN

NO RANSOM MONEY PAID

Police, Newspapers Cooperate in Ruse Which Wrecks Extortion Plot.

By The Associated Press

DENVER, Jan. 25—Return of Benjamin P. Bower from a mountain cabin in which kidnapers held him five days was followed today by revelation of a coup whereby police and a newspaper tricked the gangsters into suspecting each other of treachery and thus broke up the plot to extort $50,000 from Bower's family.

Bower, 62-year-old Denver bakery manager, was taken by motor car to west Denver and released early yesterday, his eyes covered with adhesive tape which he was instructed to wear until he could no longer hear the kidnaper's car.

False Note Published

In a copyrighted article the Rocky Mountain News revealed it had published Saturday a false note written by Police Chief Albert T. Clark and purporting to have been received by Mrs. Bower from the kidnapers, to create suspicion in the minds of the gangsters.

Although almost identical with one written by Bower to his wife Friday, the note differed in designation of a rendezvous for payment of the ransom, indicating one of the members probably the "pay off man" had destroyed the original, substituting the fictitious, in an effort to grab the $50,000.

In the same article, the News said that Mrs. Bower, in answering Bowers note, had driven to the Bower home of Joseph P. Roma and delivered a note to Roma, as directed. It also said she delivered another such note to a man named Smaldone. Both men, the News said, accepted the notes for delivery to Bower.

The News further stated that after acceptance of the note by Roma, Chief Clark told Roma he would be held personally responsible for Bowers safety and that Bower was released soon afterward.

No Arrests Made

Neither Roma nor Smaldone had been arrested early today. Bower is being kept under heavy police guard at his home because of a threat made by one of his captors as he was being released.

"You'd better get that $50,000 together because we'll be back to see you in a day or two," Bower said he was told.

The gang dragged him from his home last Tuesday night. Bower said the tape was never taken from his eyes save for a brief moment when he wrote a short letter to his wife at direction of the men who guarded him.

The News said it was "reliably informed that not one cent of the $50,000 demanded by Bower's abductors has been paid, and not one cent will be paid."

CONFERENCE ON RAIL WAGES MARKS TIME

Labor Considers Carriers' Answer to Demand for More Jobs.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO Jan. 25—The railroads marked time today in the parley for a 10 per cent wage cut as labor scrutinized their "definite answer" to a program asking relief for 700,000 jobless and 600,000 partly employed.

It was an answer the labor unions asked last week before voting on the 10 per reduction the carriers asked them to accept to improve railway credit and quicken economic recovery. Today the union leaders met to hear its text read by David Brown Robertson, their generalissimo.

That the reply contained broader concessions than heretofore granted was indicated by President Daniel Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio line.

Previously the rails declined to go beyond the statement they would do everything in their power to relieve unemployment in replying to the chief demand of labor for a guarantee of jobs on a par with 1930.

Priest Hero in Fire.

By The Associated Press

AKRON O., Jan. 25—Despite entreaties from members of his congregation, Rev. Acabios Riaschi, pastor of St. Joseph's Syrian Catholic church here, risked his life to save chalices from the burning sanctuary. Onlookers cheered when he emerged from the smoke-filled building. The fire, believed to have started from burning censers, did damage estimated at $3,000.

MOTHER OF EIGHT KILLED

FIRE DESTROYS BANK AT TIRO

Safe Containing $115,000 in Cash, Securities, Buried in Debris.

LOSS PLACED AT $30,000

Condition of Contents Not Known; Two Stores Are Destroyed.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS O Jan 25 A safe containing $115,000 in cash and securities is being dug out of the debris that marks the location of a business block at Tiro, north of here, that formerly housed the Farmers' and Citizens' bank.

The block was destroyed by fire early Sunday morning causing a loss estimated at $30,000. Origin of the fire is unknown.

Whether the contents of the bank safe were damaged in the blaze that threatened the Tiro business district will not be known until late today or early tomorrow, when it will be opened. In the meantime the bank is preparing to open for business in a new location.

The E. C. Stephan general store and the Frank Spilette grocery store also were destroyed. A safe containing the records of the general store was opened this morning and the contents found undamaged.

The Shelby fire department pumped water from a stream a quarter of a mile away and prevented the spread of the flames to adjoining buildings. The fire is thought to have started in the basement of the bank.

TO ASK DISMISSAL OF MURDER CHARGES

Defense Seeks To Free Four Defendants in Honolulu 'Honor' Slaying.

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU, Jan. 25—Hoping to free Mrs. Granville Fortescue and her three naval co-defendants, at least temporarily, of all charges for the slaying of Joseph Kahahawai, defense attorneys were to argue for dismissal of police court charges against the quartet today.

The plea is based upon delay of the county prosecutor in presenting the case to the grand jury which deliberated for two days last week, but adjourned until tomorrow without returning an indictment.

Meanwhile the territorial senate is studying a bill which would create the office of criminal prosecutor, ousting City and County Attorney James F. Gilliland from prosecution of the Kahahawai case and of the four men accused of assaulting Mrs. Fortescue's daughter, Mrs. Thomas H. Massie.

If the defense wins its plea, it would mean the release from custody of Pearl Harbor naval base of Mrs. Fortescue and her co-defendants—Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and A. O. Jones and E. J. Lord, enlisted men. The police court warrant charged them with the murder of Kahahawai, a suspected assailant of Mrs. Massie.

O. S. U. STUDENTS' EXPENSE REDUCED

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 25—University students living in dormitories on the Ohio state university campus will be given reduced living rates during the school year 1932-1933, it was announced today.

The reduced rates will average from $15 to $20 a student each quarter. The reductions were made by a committee of university trustees.

MERCHANTS OF CHINA URGE PEACE MOVE

National Government Asked To Order Acceptance of Jap Demands.

CHINESE LEADERS QUIT

Two Officials Resign as China Appears Likely To Yield.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Jan. 25—Chinese merchants stepped into the role of peacemakers today urging the national government to order acceptance by Shanghai city officials to Japan's demands for suppression of Chinese boycott organizations.

An atmosphere approaching terror was intensified by explosion in the Whangpoo river, in which a fleet of Japanese warships is anchored, of a lighter carrying a cargo of explosives, sinking a number of small boats and killing 29 laborers.

Albert Perges, Austrian employe of the American Express company and former New Yorker, was shot and killed by a Chinese guard who fired into his automobile. A young woman with him said the soldier fired without warning.

Another burden was added to the already strained relations when an attempt was made to burn the home of Japanese Consul General Murai in the French concession.

Japanese officials reiterated demands that the anti-Japanese societies be broken up.

Although Mayor Wu Teh-Chen continued to decline to accept the Japanese demands, the business men urged the government to instruct the mayor to accept. The belief grew that the Chinese would yield.

CHINESE LEADERS QUIT

Resign Posts for Inability To Get Action Against Japan.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, China, Jan. 25—Sun Fo, president of the executive Yuan, which is a post corresponding to that of premier of China, resigned today because the government declined to accept his policy of vigorous action against Japan.

Only a few hours before, at Nanking, Eugene Chen, foreign minister of the new Chinese national government, resigned also because of rejection of his proposed forceful policies, including severance of diplomatic relations with Japan.

JOHN SCHNEIDER, 62, DIES AT HOME HERE

John Schneider, 62, senior member of Marion's oldest tinning concern, died yesterday at 9:45 p. m. A year's illness of Bright's disease caused his death at his home at 216 Forest street.

The firm of Schneider & Sons was established by Mr. Schneider in 1912, after a partnership with Frank Beeler in the firm of Beverly and Schneider had been dissolved.

Mr. Schneider and his partner bought their shop from J. W. Wiers in 1904, and at that time it had been in operation approximately 40 years.

Until 1929, the firm of Schneider & Sons operated on south Main street, combining a hardware store with the tin and roofing business. The stock was sold out that year and since then the tin and roofing business has been carried on at the Forest street location.

He was born Aug. 6, 1870, in Columbus to Joseph and Dorothea Dorbet Schneider. His marriage to Alice Endicott took place in Marion on Jan. 9, 1889. He was a member of Trinity Baptist church.

Besides his widow he leaves four sons and a daughter, Charles W. Schneider of 240 Forest street, Edward J. Schneider of this city, LeRoy Schneider of Elmwood drive, George O. Schneider of Columbus and Margaret at home, and three brothers, Joseph, Frank and Ollie Schneider, all of Marion.

The funeral will be Wednesday afternoon at the home. The time has not been set. Rev. Lawrence A. Wood of Trinity Baptist church will officiate. Burial will be made in Marion cemetery.

The discovery will enable bacteriologists to study many forms of bacteria hitherto unknown.

TAXES COMING DOWN IN U. S.

Definite Lower Trend Noted in State and Municipal Assessments.

ECONOMY ALLOWS CUTS

Governmental Overhead Generally Lower; No Slash in Federal Levies.

(Copyright 1932, by The Associated Press.)

NEW YORK Jan 25 There is a definite movement toward tax reductions in many parts of the United States.

With some exceptions it appears likely that the average citizen may offset increased federal taxes by paying less to his municipal and state governments.

A. Harry Moore, newly inaugurated Democratic governor of New Jersey, gave voice to the movement last week when he proposed return of more than $16,000,000 to tax payers and asked the legislature to throw out 95 assessors and 35 commissioners in favor of a less expensive government.

Western States Slash

Nebraska began slashing its governmental overhead last year and taxes came down accordingly.

The state board of equalization met in Idaho last August and reduced the assessed valuation of nearly all property, 20 to 25 per cent. The action generally meant a reduced tax. Assessments on live stock, all important in Idaho, have just been slashed 20 to 40 per cent.

Iowa expects to reduce property tax collections $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 this year. Many county and city governments have reduced public salaries 10 to 12 per cent. The state government is operating under an economy program, and the state levy has been reduced two mills.

Low Rate In Kansas

The 1931 tax rate in Kansas at 1.43 mills, was the lowest since 1920. The 1932 rate has not been fixed but expenses for the first six months of the current fiscal year were $337,000 under the previous year.

North Carolina's legislature caused a general reduction of 35 cents on the $100 valuation in 1931 by turning the six months public school term and maintenance on all public roads over to the state government. Salaries of all but constitutional officers were cut 10 per cent.

MARTIAL LAW USED TO CHECK REVOLT

SAN SALVADOR, EL SALVADOR, Jan. 25—The Republic of Salvador was under martial law today as the military junta, in power less than two months, sought to put down a "Communist uprising."

An official communique said "red hordes" provoked disorders in several towns in the interior. Troops met strong resistance at Sonsonate, the communique said, and fired upon revolters, killing and wounding an undetermined number.

RECONSTRUCTION LEADERS NAMED

Commercialization Threatens Radio Programs, Bettman Says

COLUMBUS O Jan 25 Declaration that radio faced prostitution upon the altar of commercial gain was made by Assistant Attorney General Gilbert Bettman today.

His statement was made in exceptions sent to the federal radio commission on proposed division of time on the air between Ohio State university's broadcasting station WEAO and a Youngstown commercial station WKBN.

An examiner for the commission recently recommended that all evening hours after 7 p. m. be given to WKBN leaving only the daylight hours for WEAO. Bettman argued that daylight hours are unsuited to educational programs the bulk of the university's broadcasting.

The findings Bettman said, was inimical to the public interest and constituted bias in favor of the commercial station.

The report he said so curtails the service previously rendered by the university along educational lines as to take from the state of Ohio her greatest natural educational resource."

The case he said, will establish the turning point in a national policy and the state of Ohio should be heard."

"Gen" Coxey in New Appeal for Unemployed Aid

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O Jan 25—Gen. Jacob S. Coxey who led a march to Washington 38 years ago seeking relief for the unemployed came to Ohio capital today for the same purpose but alone.

Coxey now mayor of Massillon came to confer with the state relief commission on his proposal to issue a special ten year issue of bonds.

To raise the funds necessary to feed the people Coxey said he would ask the commission to authorize the building and loan associations to request Governor George White to call a special session of the legislature for the election the

ORDERS NATIONAL BANK ASSESSMENT

Stockholders Held for 100 Per Cent Liability by U. S. Comptroller.

Assessments of 100 per cent of the capital stock were made Saturday against shareholders in the Marion National bank, now being liquidated by C. A. Jones federal receiver. The bank is capitalized at $200,000.

The assessment was ordered by J. G. Awalt, deputy comptroller of currency when it appeared to his satisfaction that in order to pay the debts of the bank that it would be necessary to enforce the individual liability of the stockholders.

The acting comptroller has ordered all assessments paid by Feb. 27, but the receiver has notified shareholders that the assessments can be paid in 25 per cent installments due Feb. 27, March 28, April 27 and May 27.

The assessment not only calls in all stock of the bank but also requires the payment by shareholders of $100 for every share of stock held by them.

As comments to the full extent of the shareholders' liability are made in the liquidation of all federal banks when it becomes evident that an assessment of any size will be necessary banking officials explained. Should the bank be able to pay all creditors and depositors, without using all funds raised by the assessment, the residue will be distributed among the shareholders at the termination of the receivership, they said.

There are 192 stockholders. The notices mailed Saturday call for voluntary payment of the assessment.

In the meantime, the receiver and his assistants are proving the accounts of depositors and receiving their proofs of claims as pass books are presented.

Two Dead in Bloody Rioting; Worst Rebellion in British History.

By The Associated Press

DARTMOOR, ENGLAND, Jan. 25—Three hundred prisoners in grim Dartmoor prison today had failed in their attempt at a break which became the most violent in the history of British penology.

Two of their number were reported dead and between 70 and 75 wounded. With the weather cold they were forced to shiver in calamity's aftermath because the prison heating plant was damaged during the fray.

The bloody day began over lack of sugar in the breakfast porridge. The prisoners claimed allotment to all being before dawn the prison was in a hubbub with the prisoners beating on cell doors and walls in protest.

The fight began when guards refused them for exercise before chapel services. Led by one pistol shot blowing a hole they attacked and had nearly gained freedom when police reinforcements turned the tide.

In the meantime they set fire to the principal prison buildings and one group, breaking into the office of the governor, S. F. Roberts, forced him to flee and take refuge in a cell block occupied by prisoners who had not joined the riot.

As soon as police arrived they drew their clubs and charged while guards kept up a sniping fire along the walls bringing down every man who reached the top in an attempt to escape.

STATE CASE AGAINST JUDD NEARS CLOSE

Prosecutor May Complete Evidence in Trunk-Murder Trial Today.

By The Associated Press

PHOENIX, Ariz. Jan. 25—County Attorney Lloyd J. Andrews announced today the state probably will complete its case against Winnie Ruth Judd by late afternoon today or tomorrow morning.

Andrews' statement indicated he will await construction of the defense case before he presents testimony upon which the state depends to send Mrs. Judd to the gallows for slaying of her two former friends, Mrs. Agnes Anne LeRoi and Miss Hedvig Samuelson.

State witnesses called for rebuttal testimony probably will include J. J. Halloran, wealthy Phoenix lumber dealer.

It was Halloran who, during investigation of the slayings, admitted friendship with all three women and added that he had been "innocent, but perhaps indiscreet."

Andrews has suggested the motive for the slaying was Mrs. Judd's alleged jealousy over Halloran.

TWO CHOSEN TO AID DAWES

Southern Democrats Selected by Hoover for Finance Corporation.

ONE MORE TO BE NAMED

Two-Billion-Dollar Project To Aid Business About Ready for Action.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 Two southerners were named today to the board that will direct a two-billion dollars injection to quicken the pulse of business.

Harvey C. Couch of Arkansas and Jesse H. Jones of Texas were appointed by President Hoover as two of the three Democratic directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. A third probably will be named in a very short time.

Quick confirmation is expected of the senate, along with that of Charles Gates Dawes named president of the corporation.

About Ready for Action

Only those formalities and passage by the senate of a measure appropriating $500,000,000 are necessary to get the corporation ready to function financially.

The other directors are Eugene Meyer, governor of the federal reserve board, Paul Bestor, farm loan commissioner, and Secretary Mellon.

Couch a prominent financier, residing in Pine Bluff is well known in the capital through his connection with various industrial and other activities. Jones was especially active in connection with the last Democratic national convention held in his home city, Houston. The recommendations of Democratic congressional leaders had a large part in guiding the selections.

White House officials said today, shortly after the President named Couch and Jones, that the chief executive now is interested primarily in legislation designed to relieve depositors in closed banks. At the same time, he is very much intent on continued reduction in governmental expenditures to strengthen the treasury's position.

Prepare Quarters

Workers are cleaning, painting and patching up space in the old department of commerce building for the Reconstruction Corporation. This probably will be completed this week.

Dawes continues active toward the actual making of loans. Within a fortnight the money is expected to be started on its way for the aid of business and industry.

An optimistic view of the probable effects of the new corporation was brought to the White House today by Secretary Lamont, who has just returned from a trip into the West.

"Although the people I talked to differed as to what they thought exact results would be," he said after his talk with the President, "everyone agreed the corporation would be beneficial."

HARTER INDICTED IN NORTHRUP MURDER

Killing of Former Marion Man Brings Action by Grand Jury.

Charles "Jeff" Harter, 50, of Lima, was indicted of first degree murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Emery E. Northrup, 53, former Marion resident by the January term grand jury of Allen county in Lima Saturday. The indictment was one of 43 returned.

Harter is said to have confessed killing Northrup during the night of Oct. 21 after a boy rum drinking party in the former's home. The men were old acquaintances and had been having difficulties for some time. Harter told police. He admitted that he had been watching for some time to catch Northrup stealing from him and on that night he accused the victim of stealing a purse containing $16 from him.

The purse was found the next morning in front of Northrup's home by his brother, Rev. Northrup. Northrup was shot twice, a bullet wound in the head proving fatal. According to Harter's confession to police, he shot Northrup after the men had gone over to Northrup's home.

Northrup was a native of Marion county. He was born near Prospect and made his home in the county until a number of years ago when he moved to Lima. Among the Marion relatives are Cyre Bennett, accused of the murder of his brother, James F. Bennett, last December. Northrup was a nephew of the Bennetts.

SCHOOLS UNDER CHURCH BOYCOTT

By The Associated Press

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 25.—A Catholic boycott of all secondary government schools was announced today by Archbishop Pascual Diaz in a pastoral letter of instructions to the heads of all Catholic families under his jurisdiction.

The archbishop said his letter was a result of the presidential decree of Dec. 29 which established an absolute lay hold in all secondary schools operated by the government. He said this made it necessary for the church to act in order that Catholic youth would receive "a moral Christian education which is the duty of all Catholics."

WILLIAM C. KENNEDY ENDS LIFE AT HOME

Special to The Star

CALEDONIA, Jan. 25.—William C. Kennedy, 55, ended his life in a chicken coop on his farm four and one half miles north of here. The body with a shotgun wound in the chest was found Sunday noon.

The time of his death is not known. His family last saw him Saturday night when he retired. Search was started yesterday morning when he failed to appear for breakfast. He had been in ill health for about seven years and is thought to have worried over financial matters.

Services will be conducted Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. at the home with burial in Oakwood cemetery at Bucyrus.

Mr. Kennedy was born Oct. 4, 1876, in Crawford county to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kennedy and was married Oct. 4, 1898, to Myrtle Heinlen. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church.

Surviving are the widow and six children, Mrs. Flossie Beers of northeast of Marion, Eugene and Melvin at home, Harold of Columbus, Mrs. Mabel Pangborn of near Marion and Gladys of Columbus.

Surviving brothers and sisters are Milbrein Kennedy of Bucyrus, Otho of Bucyrus, Myron of Marion, Orange of Martel, Almet of Martel, Ralph of Sacramento, Calif., Mrs. Myrtle Tanner of Akron, Mrs. Samuel Staump of Martel and Mrs. Russell Lisle of Lowell, Mass.

MINISTERS HEAR LAY CHURCH MEET PLANS

Nationally-Known Speakers Will Appear at Inter-Denominational Conference.

Plans for an all-day inter-denominational regional conference Feb. 15 at the First Reformed church for churches in Marion, Union, Delaware, Morrow, Wyandot and Crawford counties, were discussed at a meeting of the Marion County Ministerial association this morning at City library.

The meeting is one of four to be held over the state in February and will bring several nationally-known churchmen here. The National Home Missions council and Ohio Council of Churches are sponsoring the meetings.

The program hour was devoted to reports of the Ohio Pastor's convention in Cleveland last night. Rev. Carl V. Roop of the First United Brethren church, president of the association, presided.

Various phases of the convention were described by Dr. C. E. Turley of Epworth M. E. church, Rev. M. L. Buckley of the Caledonia Church of Christ, Rev. Robert H. Hucke of the First Reformed church, Rev. W. Martell George of Wesley M. E. church and Rev. E. A. Gradwohl of Prospect.

Mrs. W. N. Harder will address the association on the subject of the World court, at a meeting in one week at the library.

PAUL M. WARBURG CLAIMED BY DEATH

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Paul Moritz Warburg, one of the foremost banking authorities in America, is dead in his sixty-fifth year.

His death last night was the third of a year among powerful figures of finance. George F. Baker died last spring and Dwight Morrow died in October.

Warburg, especially remembered as the prophet who warned against the Wall Street crash of 1929, was chairman of the boards of the Manhattan company and the International Acceptance bank of New York.

Warburg had been ill since early last month, his original ailment being a paralytic stroke. Ten days ago hypostatic pneumonia developed.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO WIFE SLAYING

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., Jan. 25.—Arch F. Knisely, prominent Warren clubman charged with first degree murder of his wife, today entered a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity. Knisely also pleaded he had no funds with which to defend himself and Robert Day was appointed his counsel by Judge Lynn Griffith, before whom he was arraigned.

Knisely was alleged to have shot his wife as she entered a downtown building Jan. 13. He fled through Pennsylvania and West Virginia, but gave himself up four days later at Wheeling, W. Va.

NEW OHIO TAX LAW ATTACKED IN COURT

Hearing Set for Today on Suit Brought by Jefferson Man.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 25.—Constitutionality of Ohio's new intangibles tax law was challenged in a suit for hearing in the court of appeals at Jefferson, Ashtabula county today.

The suit was filed by E. C. Lampson of Jefferson to require compilation of the county tax list under the old law. He asserted the constitutional amendment creating the new code was illegal because two separate amendments were voted on simultaneously.

Attorney General Gilbert Bettman argued the vote was on related amendments and as such was valid.

Bettman said the case involves the whole tax structure of the state and declared state revenue would be thrown into chaos by invalidation of the law.

THREE CARS STOLEN, ALL ARE RECOVERED

Thieves Keep Police Busy as Autos Are Taken from Streets.

Joyriders gave police a busy five hours Saturday when they took three cars here between 8 p. m. and midnight. All were later recovered, one in a ditch at Galion by the Galion police. Another was recovered after the joyriders were chased for several blocks on Davids street by a patrolman.

At 9:30 Louis J. Teitelbaum of 320 Summit street reported his car taken from Orchard street. A short time later a patrolman in a police car cruising in the vicinity of west Center and Davids street, recognized the car going south on Davids and occupied by three young men.

The patrolman started in pursuit and occupants of the machine realizing they were being followed put on speed and the two cars raced south on Davids street to near Henry street where they suddenly ran the machine into the curb and leaping from an open door made their escape into the darkness before the patrolman could reach the car. The machine was taken to the garage of the McDaniel Motor Co. on west Center street for repairs.

A Dodge coupe belonging to Paul Austin of 140 Baker street, reported stolen from Bain avenue at 7:40 p. m., was found by the Galion police in a ditch near that city. A Chevrolet roadster belonging to William H. Fisher of R. F. D. No. 1, Marion, was reported stolen from near the postoffice at 8:30 p. m. The car was found in the ditch west of the city this morning.

A Chrysler sedan belonging to Otto Pfeifer of Galion was found by the local police near the plant of the Marion Union stockyards on west Center street Saturday night. The machine had been driven partly into the ditch and had been damaged slightly.

The theft of a Chevrolet sedan from the street in London, O., was reported to the local police by the police department of that city last night. The car was described as being a 1928 model and bearing Ohio license D98-538.

DROP IN MERCURY HALTS STREAM RISE

Colder Weather Stops Rain; Temperature To Rise Again Tuesday.

Declining temperatures which dropped the mercury below the freezing mark halted a protracted period of rainfall Saturday night, checking the rise of Marion county river and streams.

Many streams were nearly bank full from rainfall Friday and Saturday when cool winds broke up the showers. None reached road levels nor caused any damage a checkup this morning disclosed.

Cold, clear weather dropped thermometers to an official low of 26 last night, the first freezing weather since Jan. 11. This mark was recorded after a 21 degree drop from a high of 47 yesterday. A year ago, the high was 56, the low 41.

Bright sunshine this morning was rapidly fulfilling forecasts of warmer weather for Tuesday. Cloudiness is forecast for tonight.

TAXPAYERS' GROUP OUTLINES PLANS

Marion County Association Meets in Courthouse.

Township representatives of the Marion County Taxpayers association met in the courthouse Saturday afternoon to outline plans for renewing the membership and obtaining new members for the organization for 1932. Dean Ridgeway of LaRue, president, conducted a brief discussion on the activities of the association during the last year, and called on the township chairman for remarks.

It was explained that plans are under way to incorporate all existing county tax organizations into a statewide organization. Dr. Frederick C. Smith and A. W. Jones of LaRue are members of a committee now preparing a tentative constitution for the state organization.

BOY SCOUT BOARD TO MEET TUESDAY

The executive board of the Harding area, Boy Scouts of America, will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in scout headquarters in the Y. M. C. A. Officers of the area council, representatives from Bucyrus and Mt. Gilead and committee chairman will attend.

One of the major items to come before the board will be the approval of the annual report and application for charter for the area. Other plans for 1932 will be discussed.

Tammany Assailed.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—Before the New York legislature, which will decide this week whether its investigation of the city of New York is to continue, Samuel Seabury laid today a 50,000-word arraignment of the practices of Tammany Hall. It was a written report from the counsel to the Hofstadter legislative committee, to Senator Samuel H. Hofstadter, chairman. In it, Seabury urged complete reorganization of the city's government along non-political lines to raise it from "the low and sordid estate to which it has sunk."

LOUISIANA REOPENS 'WAR OF GOVERNORS'

Armed Guards Patrol Capital as Huey Long's Friends and Foes Clash.

By The Associated Press

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 25.—The war of the governors is on again in Louisiana.

Governor Huey P. Long's departure for Washington and his seat in the senate left the arena to two men, one his friend and the other his foe—and armed guards today patrolled the capital against invasion by the enemy.

The foe, Paul N. Cyr, elected lieutenant governor, announced readiness to take up the battle he left off when the supreme court gerrymandered him in his attempt to oust Long and take his job as governor. Long could not be both governor and a senator-elect.

Meanwhile, the friend, Alvin O. King, the president pro tempore of the senate whom Long appointed lieutenant governor on the contention Cyr's action in taking the governor's oath in his office rescinded, has left him his elected job, held the fort as acting governor.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The Democratic party was urged today by Governor Huey Long of Louisiana to nominate for President Speaker Garner, Senator Harrison of Mississippi, or Senator Robinson of Arkansas. The colorful Louisiana leader gave his views shortly after his arrival to be sworn in as a Democratic senator.

He said that if former Governor Smith of New York were renominated he would be elected, but that he did not believe Governor Roosevelt would win if nominated.

Long got out of bed to talk with newspapermen and was clad in pink pajamas as he discussed the Louisiana situation and national affairs.

List To Grow

Nearly two dozen petitions with which prospective office seekers may declare their candidacies before March 11 are being circulated in the county, and many others probably will be in circulation before the end of this month

While probable candidates marshal their forces for the county election, many Marionites are taking advantage of the opportunity to register at the office of the board of elections, qualifying themselves to cast ballots in the primary May 10 Unlike last year when the primary included only the city, the 1932 primary will cover every precinct in the county. Marion citizens must be properly registered to vote.

Those who failed to cast ballots at the last two consecutive November elections must register before April 20. Under a provision of a recently enacted law, each elector loses his registration rights if he fails for two consecutive November elections to vote

Object of Law

The object of this law it was explained by C G Ritzler, deputy clerk of the board of elections, is to keep the registration files free of "dead names" or names of persons who had moved from the county, died, or otherwise ceased to become electors.

Others who must register by next April 20 are those who have reached the age of 21 since the last election, persons whose names have been changed by marriage, and all other persons not properly registered in the permanent registration of 1930 Citizens who have changed their residence within the county must transfer their registration to the proper precinct before April 21

Among the officials to be elected this year are two county commissioners, a prosecuting attorney, a clerk of courts, a probate judge, a county recorder, a county treasurer, county surveyor, sheriff coroner and a representative to the Ohio legislature.

NEIMEYER EXPLAINS FISHING BAN ORDER

Two Streams Free from Pollution in This District To Be Restocked.

The critical attitude of Marion county nimrods toward the state's proposal to close the Olentangy river and Tymochtee creek, and their tributaries for fishing purposes for two and a half years beginning Feb. 1 should soon change to one of favor when sportsmen learn what the state plans to do in the closed streams, in the opinion of O. H. Neimeyer of Prospect, deputy state game protector.

Marion county should consider itself lucky to have two bodies of water closed and stocked by the state, Neimeyer declares Had the streams being closed been found polluted the state would have refused to close them or restock them, he said

Where possible, one third of the unpolluted streams in each county were closed The conservation department has no control over the pollution of streams, this authority resting with the state health department, according to Neimeyer.

In closed streams it will be unlawful to take fish, frogs, turtles, mussels, minnows and other bait, including crayfish, leeches, hellgrammites and all other kinds of natural fish foods, the game protector said

Neimeyer soon will post the Marion county streams to be closed, and will distribute maps at sporting goods stores showing all Ohio streams closed to fishermen.

TEETH NO PROBLEM FOR AGED WOMAN

By International News Service

CHILLICOTHE, O., Jan 25—Old age and teeth seldom go together but that isn't true of Mrs Elizabeth West, 97-year-old Negress of this city, who is now cutting her third set of teeth Perhaps it may be attributed to her life-time habit of smoking a peculiar tobacco twist, but nevertheless Mrs West possesses two "ivories" in each gum

Although they are practically useless and as she says "probably won't last," still the aged woman is proud of them.

Mrs. West was born in Richmond, Va., on Sept. 1, 1834, but has resided here for 87 years. Despite her age, she can thread a needle without spectacles but experiences a slight difficulty in hearing.

STARTING NEW LIFE

Determined to close the door on the past and make a new start in life, Mrs. Jack Diamond, widow of the notorious gang leader who was "put on the spot" in Albany, N. Y., some time ago, is shown as she appeared making up in the dressing room of a New York theater for the role which she will play in an act specially written for her stage debut. Mrs. Diamond turned to the footlights, following the example of "Kiki" Roberts, her late husband's sweetheart, who is now appearing in vaudeville.

PAGEANT TO PORTRAY LIFE OF WASHINGTON

Marionette Show Saturday To Open Bicentennial Celebration Here.

Washington as a young surveyor, Fort Necessity, marriage of Washington, Washington at Valley Forge and crossing the Delaware, all scenes from the early life of George Washington will be portrayed in the marionette pageant, "The Romantic Days of George Washingtno" to be presented Saturday under the auspices of the Marion County George Washington bicentennial committee

Two presentations of the pageant will be given at the Ohio theater at 10:30 a. m. and 1 p m Plans for the presentation and sale of tickets are in charge of the City Parent-Teacher council, the Marion Teachers' association and St. Mary's Parent-Teacher group Proceeds of the two shows will be applied on the purchase of the official films portraying the life of George Washington for use in the schools

The pageant will be presented with more than 50 marionettes by Jean Gros and is said to be the largest show of the kind in the world While of especial interest to children, adults also will be interested in the pageant and will be admitted to both the morning and afternoon performances The show will be one of the first observances of the George Washington bicentennial observances to be held under the auspices of the county committee and will mark the beginning of a series of entertainments and programs to be given between now and the close of the celebration on Thanksgiving day this year

Alice lets a Beauty Secret Out!

Cellophane-wrapped Camay!

"How on earth do you keep your skin so young looking, Alice? Nobody would ever know you were the mother of an 8 year old boy!"

"Thanks, Frances! All the credit goes to Camay Soap. Have you tried it? It's wrapped in cellophane, you know, to keep it fresh—and you have no idea how much difference freshness makes in a beauty soap!"

"That Camay is swell, Frances. My skin feels so smooth and soft! It looks so much better!"

"The cellophane makes a lot of difference, doesn't it? Keeps the delicacy of Camay fresh."

"I never can get my face and neck clean on the train, Frances! The water is so hard that this soap of mine won't lather. And my skin feels burning, too!"

"Here, Anne. Try this fresh Camay. I wouldn't think of using any other soap. You remember Alice? Well, she told me about it. And her skin is grand looking."

It may be all very well to let a laundry soap get stale. But a beauty soap? Never! Use fresh Camay and you'll never use any other beauty soap. Its delicacy is sealed in cellophane at the very height of beauty soap perfection. That's why the lather is so gentle, so safe for your skin. That's why the lather is so instantaneous and luxurious, even in very hard water!

...ligion as the fundamental basis of activity the organization of the Separatists, a sect owing its origin and growth to the writings and teachings of John Arndt, Johann Andrea and Frederick Oetinger, was conceived in the Kingdom of Wurttemburg Germany, in 1544.

Early in the 19th century the Protestant King James began a persecution of the sect and its members were forced to flee to other lands. A company comprising the Zoar colony, stinging from persecutions and insults, departed from Wurttemburg in April, 1817, headed by one Joseph M. Baumler, who later changed his name to Bimeler.

Named Leader

Baumler was a humble and obscure peasant but unusually independent and a born leader. He became by common consent the leader of 300 pilgrims made up of the poorer class, many of whom were unable to pay their passage to America.

When Baumler arrived in America he came to Ohio and purchased 5,500 acres of land a military grant in the Tuscarawas valley, at a cost of $3 per acre. A sum of $5,500 was paid in cash and the balance in 15 years. The money was paid by Baumler with an understanding that each member should share in it proportionately.

Establishing what was known as a "community of goods and efforts" the members agreed that all property of individual members and their future earnings were to become common stock of the association to be taken care of by directors elected annually by the members.

In its hey-day under the communistic regime, Zoar contained about 75 buildings, and many of the homes were double and housed two and three families. The other buildings were for common purposes including factories, barns storehouses, a hotel, church schoolhouse, flour mill and brewery.

It was to the pretentious home of Baumler that the villagers would go twice each week to obtain supplies, and each family was allowed an ample quantity of necessities. No accounting was kept of this distribution as there was no need for charges or credits. The property of one was the property of all.

Each person was permitted two suits of clothes each year and these were patterned after the fashion of the Quakers. The only jewelry worn was by the men who were entitled to a plain silver watch made by the hand of one of the village tradesmen.

Seventy-Five Buildings in Village When Conditions Were Flourishing.

All Home Products

Everything needed was manufactured in the various shops in the village and the products of these people were in great demand and eagerly sought by foreign customers. Any money obtained from the sale of articles to outsiders was placed in the general fund for the benefit of all members.

During the entire period that the communistic village was in existance there was never a serious crime committed though one of the buildings a one-story ominous looking structure with small iron grated windows, was erected for the benefit of the more boisterous and belligerent visitors.

Dissatisfaction, however, had been spreading among the members during the later years and it was increasing with the oncoming generation. The younger elements began to find fault with their tasks, and declared that "communism was all right but gave the lazy too much leeway."

The general decline of its industries and the shrinkage of values, the latter prevalent at that time all over the country, was to a large extent a contributing factor in the movement to disband.

In April, 1851, a suit for partition of property was filed by John G. Goscin in the Seventh Circuit court of the United States. This suit, however, was decided in favor of the society and then everything was peaceful in the village until a subsequent suit was filed in the common pleas court of Tuscarawas county, later carried to the circuit court and finally to the Supreme court in December, 1862.

Losing faith in the religion of their fathers, the members on March 10, 1898, signed a compact providing for the division of the property, bringing an end to the communistic experiment. A total of 229 men, women and children in the society received an equal share in the property which was valued at $.40,820.

NEW OFFICERS OF GRANGE AT MEETING

Everett Harris Starts Third Term as Bowling Green Master.

Special to The Star

LARUE, Jan. 25 Bowling Green grange met Friday night with the new officers presiding. Everett Harris began his third year as master. Earl Miller, master of Montgomery grange and delegate to the state convention, gave a detailed report of convention proceedings. A discussion on legislation and its relation to grange interests followed. A. W. Jones, a member of the county school board, discussed school matters. Grange lecturer, Mrs. Belle Jones was in charge of the following program: reading, Cecil Sparks; paper, Mrs. J. W. Freshour; vocal duet, Ralph Amstutz and Harold Clunk; reading, Preston Owens; violin solo, Cecilia Snyder; recitation, Lois Grappy; recitation, June Sparks; drill, degree staff.

The juvenile grange held its regular meeting with all new officers in the chairs. Much interest is being manifested in the attendance contest captained by Elston Williams and Clyde Freshour, the result of the first period of the contest was a tie. A program was given as follows: recitation, Cecil Sparks; illustrated talk, Grace Amstutz; recitation, Peggy Jean Keefe; violin solo, Cecilia Snyder; recitation, Cletus Snyder; recitation, Clyde Freshour; organ solo, Della Owens. At the next meeting the juveniles will have a Valentine Exchange and will also give a Lincoln and St. Valentine's program.

COIN BELIEVED TO BE CUSTER RELIC

By International News Service

CADIZ, O., Jan. 25 A large copper cent, bearing the initials G. A. C. recently unearthed by G. D. Crawl of New Rumley, is believed to be a boyhood relic of General Custer. Crawl discovered the coin near the Custer Memorial at New Rumley, which marks the general's birthplace.

The initials apparently were made with a sharp pointed tool which also was used to inscribe the nine indentions on the reverse side. A hole, permitting the coin to be suspended from a string, was punched through the date.

Daily Proverb—"If your desires be endless your cares will be so, too."

The Paris spring showings point to shorter skirts. The French designers may reasonably count on the solid supports of the girls with pretty ones.

Another union business official shot to death up in Chicago. In this era of racketeering, holding office in a Windy City union is a lot like committing suicide.

Living, a survey shows, was almost ten per cent, less last year than it was the year before. That should interest those who were financially in position to save the ten per cent.

The British birth rate of 15.8 to the thousand last year was the lowest on record, while the death rate rose to 12.3 to the thousand, nine-tenths of one above the rate of 1930. The British may take a showing like that philosophically, but over in France it would cause consternation.

The funeral car chauffeurs of Chicago have receded from their stand that privately owned automobiles must not follow union livery cars in funeral processions, the rescinding of their decree demonstrating the power of public opinion when justly aroused. Had the chauffeurs possessed a full complement of either brains or judgment, the racket never would have been attempted.

W. W. Yen, Chinese ambassador to the United States, is quoted in a Geneva cable as saying: "We can't be expected to be patient any longer. The council must say what it means by the league covenant and the Kellogg pact. When a terrible conflagration is destroying hundreds of men, women and children, it is not enough to send a committee to find the cause of the fire. We must send a brigade to put it out." And in that utterance, Mr. Yen puts his finger on the weakness of the League of Nations. It is without power to enforce its decrees.

Judging by the tenor of the virtual ultimatum of the Japanese admiral in command of Japanese forces in the Shanghai area, demanding immediate suppression of anti-Japanese organizations in the foreign settlements as well as the native cities, one might take it that the Japanese figure that there are bandits in the foreign quarters of Shanghai who must be suppressed to guarantee a peaceful and quiet Asia.

Waste of Public Fund..

For months newspaper readers have been getting light from day to day on practices which have brought some of the largest cities of the land to a state of near, if not actual, bankruptcy--extravagant practices, wasteful practices, in some instances corrupt practices by officers for their own enrichment and again for the financial benefit of associates or friends. The cases of New York and Chicago may be cited as notable examples, and there are probably many other cities which have suffered in the same way in lesser degree.

Of late, there have been stories of waste and extravagance in county governments, a striking case coming to light in Cook county, Illinois, as the result of an examination conducted by the commissioners themselves through one of their members.

It is hardly necessary to point out that it is the exceptional political division, state, county, or even lesser, which has not for a year or two felt the financial pinch. This is true in the case of Cook county, yet the commissioners up there have discovered that during the last six months of last year, hard-pressed as the county was, the management of the county hospital school for nurses bought sherbet glasses at $1.70 each, finger bowls a' the same figure, plates at $2.15 each, other plates at $2.80 each, goblets at two dollars, more plates at $2.50, a table mirror at $6.50, an Italian lace tablecloth at $45, a Venetian lace tablecloth for $75, eighteen napkins for $21.75, a stool for $10 and a footstool for $39.50, eight straight-back chairs for $84, five tables for $147.50, a pillow chair for $59.50, one wing chair for $90 and a couch for $279.50.

Such was the result of the first day's investigation, and the commissioner in charge of it makes the statement that only the surface has been scratched.

Rather extravagant buying for a school for nurses maintained at public expense, but even such outlays on the part of its management are hardly so surprising as a statement, made by the chairman of the school's board of directors, in which, after being told of the result of the first day's digging, he expressed his conviction that the investigation would show no needless expenditures.

Without taking issue with the chairman's statement, it may be said that he can not get away from the fact that the "Cook County Hospital School for Nurses" is splendidly equipped to "throw" some mighty swell "feeds."

Per Capita Relief in Sixty-Six Cities.

So great is the variation in the per capita expenditure for relief of unemployment in the population centers of the country that the conclusion is unescapable that there is either a corresponding variation in unemployment or that in many cities the call for relief is being inadequately met.

This is shown by figures given out by the Russell Sage foundation, for release today, covering sixty six of the larger cities of the land, for the first nine months of last year. To give in a sentence an idea of the marked variation, it may be said that, during the nine-month period covered by the foundation's survey, the per capita expenditure for relief in Rochester, New York, was fifty times that in San Antonio, Texas, the $2,867,992 paid out for relief in the former city representing a per capita expenditure of $5.56 based on its 1930 population, against a per capita expenditure in the latter city of fifteen cents.

The report of the foundation's department of statistics, which includes both public and private expenditures for relief, shows that all the cities of more than 500,000 population are in the upper half of the relief scale, with the exception of Pittsburgh, which ranks fortieth in the list.

With Rochester standing first on the list with its per capita expenditure of $5.56, Boston is second with $7.30, and is followed by Detroit, Buffalo, Worcester, Newark, New Bedford, Hartford, Milwaukee and Springfield, Massachusetts, in the order named. New York City, with more than $32,000,000 expended, ranks eleventh with $4.69. The first two cities west of the Mississippi to appear on the list, San Francisoc and Oakland, occupy the seventeenth and twentieth positions, respectively.

Wilmington, standing in the twenty-ninth place with $2.95, leads all southern cities almost all of which have decidedly low relief rates. Chicago, with an expenditure of more than $7,000,000, is the last city in the first thirty-three with a per capita rate of $2.41. Despite its big population, Baltimore appears low in the list of southern cities, ranking fifty-first. Washington ranks fifty-fifth and Nashville, Tennessee, is next to last with a per capita expenditure of but twenty-seven cents. San Antonio, as indicated, comes last on the list of the sixty six cities.

It may be noted from the foregoing that the industrial centers of the New England and North Atlantic states, as a general rule, are expending far more liberally in the alleviation of the want and distress resulting from the economic recession and its consequent unemployment than are cities, as a rule, in other parts of the country.

True, some cities may be in far better financial condition to relieve distress than others, but it is hard to believe that Nashville and San Antonio, by way of illustration, are so financially pinched that they were unable to raise no more than twenty-seven and fifteen cents per capita, respectively, for relief of the needy within their limits during the nine months covered by the foundation's survey. It is much easier to lean to the view that they suffered far less from unemployment and thus were called on for far less relief, in proportion to their populations, than the cities in the upper bracket of the list of sixty six municipalities.

In other words, the conclusion is almost forced that the unemployment situation was spotty during the period covered by the survey, and probably still is.

The French chamber of deputies is backing Premier Laval's stand on German reparations. Naturally. Among the impossibilities of this world is that the French will ever give up the $100,000,000 they have been getting from Germany in reparations, over and above what they have been paying out, unless it be that they can see profit coming to them by so doing.

The Moscow Pravda confirms the report that a shortage of metals and other materials in soviet Russian factories has so seriously hampered production that even the largest of them is forty-five per cent. below schedule and in desperate financial condition. It takes more than mere machinery and man power to run an industrial plant.

Alonzo S. Hilton, of Carlton, Minnesota, who recently sent in his name for filing in this state and New Hampshire as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, has been committed to an insane asylum. Of course, it should be understood that his choice of parties in no way influenced the alienists who examined him.

Concluding a series of newspaper articles on Russia, Elizabeth Wickenden says that the one outstanding thing in her travels through the soviet republic was its odor, that the smell of Russia haunts her memory still. Aha! We have it at last. The Russians have absolute liberty and equality of smells!

The state's attorney up in Cook county, Illinois, has taken action to indict the chauffeurs who have been racketeering on funerals by keeping privately-owned and driven cars out of funeral processions. Were not the decent people of Chicago overly forbearant, no grand jury would ever get a chance at them.

It has developed that the Russian wreck in which sixty-eight persons were killed and 128 injured was due to a drunken cobbler, who wandered on to the track and was killed. When the train which killed him was stopped to pick up the remains, a second train ran into the first, causing the heavy casualties. And now eleven railroaders, the crews of two trains, are facing death because a cobbler fell a victim to Demon Rum! There's a temperance lecture for you!

By resolution, the Ohio pastors' convention in session last week in Cleveland declared against support in any way of any future war and attacked the refusal of the United States supreme court to find in favor of the granting of citizenship to Professor Douglas G. MacIntosh, of Yale, who refused to take the oath to bear arms in case of war. The reverend gentlemen might have simplified matters by taking the slackers oath circulated in a publication by the Federated Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

IT'S STILL GOOD ADVICE!

Editorial Opinion..

THE CRUCIBLE OF STATECRAFT.

In a very interesting article in January "State Government," Former Governor Lowden, of Illinois, pays expert attention to local units of government.

In the average county in most of the states, as Mr. Lowden points out, the salaries of county officials absorb a very large percentage of the total revenue of the county, running as high as fifty per cent.

There are too many public officials; and, as Mr. Lowden says "It is often said that we have too much government. Whether this be true or not, it certainly is a fact that we have too many governments".

Good business of any kind must have a responsible head if economy and increased efficiency are to be desired. Cities and counties are business units.

"In the cities," says Mr Lowden, "there have been noteworthy reforms in recent years, which have resulted in more unified and therefore better coordinated governments. The city manager plan is perhaps the greatest single achievement in America in improved municipal administration."

And Cincinnati has presented the nation a model in this direction. But rural government, unhappily, remains illogical, wasteful and costly in these modern times, when the application of the principles upon which state and city governments have been reorganized should be as successfully applied to them.

Why should not the county, as well as the state and the city, have an executive head? Intelligent consideration compels the belief that efficient local government may be expected in this way only.

As Mr. Lowden puts it "The executive budget has come to be regarded as indispensable to an economical government. An executive budget, however, is an impossibility unless there be a chief executive to make it."

The county has come to mean something more than a mere political unit of the state. It needs executive efficiency in government quite as much as does the state or city.

Township divisions are outworn, their maintenance fatuous. Public duties are diffused, chaotic, and there is nowhere that a proper responsibility can be placed.

These matters are the concern of the taxpayer, now distracted by the burdens he is called upon to bear. Local self-government is all important, but any feeling of local sentiment which works to the disadvantage of the taxpayer is wrong.

Let us have fewer public officials, fewer forms of government and less taxation.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A FRESH SCENT.

Here is a new lead for United States senate investigators of pure and impure elections. An aroma that must be faintly familiar to the senate smelling committee is wafted down from Minot, where a Republican county committee controlled by the nonpartisan league of the county has adopted a strong resolution.

This committee charges that a postmaster has been named by a local bank which has been "persistently and perniciously active" in politics, and that a trade has been made whereby the business institution will support the present senator and representative for re-election. The resolution criticizes Senator Nye and Congressman Sinclair by name, "for furthering their own personal ambitions to perpetuate themselves in office by favoring and supporting those groups opposed to the common welfare."

Surely, here is a scent that should arouse the baying bloodhounds of the senate, who trailed the demons of political corruption last year all the way from Palm Beach to Glacier park, at government expense. Let the smelling committee get busy.

Let's see, who is on that committee? Hold on. The committee's chairman is Senator Nye. Oh, well, it was a good idea, anyway.—Minneapolis Journal.

Hearty Breakfast.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

In their eating habits the old New Englanders were very wise men. When meal time came they knew what to do. Perhaps they did not know the exact reason for taking this or that food, but their good common sense rarely failed.

Even today one finds that a great many New Englanders live up to the rule of their forefathers: "Food is gold in the morning, silver at noon, and lead at night." At the last meal of the day heaping dishes of fish, meat, potatoes, eggs, pie and bread are served, at noon less is served, while the night meal is rather frugal.

What could be better than a hot, wholesome meal in the morning? The human body is relaxed after several hours of sleep, the organs are functioning at minimum speed and the temperature of the body is considerably lowered. There must be a stimulus to rouse the body to action. Hot food not only raises the temperature to almost running speed, but it gives the digestive organs something upon which to work.

If a person is inconsistent about eating a good breakfast, he will not suffer from lowered resistance. Lack of breakfast results, in the early riser, certainly, in quite a tax upon the reserve forces of the body. Continual taxation eventually uses up all the reserve, and when that is gone the power to throw off colds and disease is greatly lessened.

It really is a pity that modern life, particularly in the cities, has made the midnight supper a popular meal. I am sure this is a mistake. It may be very well on an occasion to take a chance on such a meal, but not habitually. In many instances, the sleep is interfered with and the organs of digestion are not given their fair share of the rest and recuperation which comes with sleep.

If one does eat a hearty meal late at night, there is not that eagerness for food which should be the case at breakfast time. A good meal in the morning is in every sense the foundation of the day's work. Such a meal will "stick to the ribs" long enough so that the midday meal will not be an enormous one. If the midday meal is too big, it means sleepiness and unwillingness to work in the afternoon.

There can be no doubt that the individual element enters into the matter of eating. In most instances, however, this is largely a matter of habit.

If we teach children the importance of an unhurried and substantial meal in the morning, it will result in an eating practice which will be continued through life. Health and resistance to disease will be promoted by this habit.

France Back to Coueism.

BY ALICE LANGELIER

Paris, Jan. 25 (INS)—Coueism has come back to France to help combat the crisis which is now beginning to make itself felt. Suffering shopkeepers wail: "Since about half a year conditions and believe that by adopting the methods of the late Dr. Coue, repeating many times daily "There is no crisis," confidence can be restored.

At their annual banquet the shopkeepers of the fashionable Rue St. Honore, which has been hard hit, found facing them on the tables cards bearing the words in very large letters, "Let us stop talking about the crisis." While this proved an appetizing hors d'oeuvre it was not recorded, but at any rate, business cares were banished for one meal at least.

• • •

The French, generally granted to be very gay and of light hearts, are not taking up as well as one thought they would under the present conditions. In the first place they are great talkers, and bad business, the lack of foreigners to buy their goods and the scarcity of money in general, make the principal subjects of conversation which are hashed and rehashed over every aperitif, lunch and after-dinner coffee.

It is true, of course, that unemployment is becoming more and more serious. At Lille recently, a procession of 1,500 unemployed marched to the town hall where their representatives were received by the mayor's secretary.

One hundred waiters and other domestic servants formed a procession through the streets of Nice on another day and demonstrated in front of each hotel where the management was said to employ more than ten per cent. foreign labor.

At Marseilles it is the seamen who are affected most. Until recently, sailors of the merchantile marine were allowed to draw an allowance after they had been three days out of work. Now, the seaman must wait for thirty days before receiving an allowance.

• • •

All this, however, does not mean that there is a great amount of real misery for every Frenchman is so thrifty that he has put away a neat little pile for a rainy day. The rainy day is at hand, but this is just the moment when he wants to hold on to his money.

The proverbial "wool sock" is as full as it ever was, maybe even fuller, and will keep the wolf from the door until better times are at hand. It is, as a matter of fact, just the very idea that the usual economies can not be made for the present moment, which is frightening the Frenchman and causing him to tighten his purse-strings more than ever before and this means to the breaking-point.

• • •

In the meantime, the poor artists unable to sell their wares, are becoming more and more practical. Painted fruits are being exchanged for the real thing and a pretty summer landscape brought forth a nice warm winter overcoat recently at the Salon des Exchanges in the Exposition park. Five Americans were among the many painters and sculptors who offered their wares for necessities.

The barter exhibition was opened with great success. Butchers bought pictures and statues by giving the artists vouchers for a certain quantity of meat. A tailor was able to get a picture he liked by promising to make two suits for the painter. A barrel of apple went for a good coat and a years meals at a little restaurant for a large mural decoration.

It was even reported that a well known lawyer bought a statue by giving the sculptor a voucher guaranteeing free defense in case of trouble in the courts and a doctor promised attendance in case of need.

Strike That Tied Up the Legislature.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

When the thirty-first legislative session opened in 1832, it had not progressed far before the members found its work seriously interfered with by failure to receive printed copies of the bills introduced, the calendars, forms, etc., used in its daily work. The two branches joined in sending a communication to the state printer demanding to know the cause of the delay.

The report of the state printer is interesting as affording a comparison of the compensation of printers at that time, with that of the present day. The state printer's office and plant were his own property, and the interest of the state extended only to the matter of prompt completion of state printing. The printer alleged that his employes had violated their contract with him, and were demanding pay at rates above that stipulated in their contracts. Here is what the contract called for:

Book work, twenty cents per 1,000 ems; rule work, thirty five cents; figure work, thirty cents, rule and figure work, thirty-five cents. Or the employes might elect day work, which was eight dollars a week for both compositors and pressmen. The report from the state printer did not state what the men were asking.

Here the matter seemed to be allowed to rest, the records of the legislature making no further reference to the controversy. The state records show that the office of state printer was held at that time by David Smith. It was under the administration of Governor Robert Lucas.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, Jan. 25.—The "grand old man of the supreme court" has at last "bowed to the inevitable" and stepped down from his place on the nation's highest tribunal.

Washington heard with a distinct shock Oliver Wendell Holmes' decision because of failing health to give up his place on the bench. Although he is nearing ninety-one and his hair whitened by the snows of many winters, almost every one clung to the belief that he would "die in harness."

That was his wish oft-repeated. A few years back he silenced speculation of his retirement with the words,

"There would be nothing left for me to do but die if I quit, and I am not particularly keen about dying."

• • •

Though Holmes shunned personal publicity at all times, during the years he has been a justice of the supreme court a wealth of socalled human interest stories have grown up around him. All were passed on eagerly—everybody hearing them.

There is one not so generally known. And it concerns a phase of his life which has always been dear to him—his service as a soldier in the union army during the Civil war.

He was wounded three times in the war, once so seriously that he was left on the battlefield to die. A farmer boy found him and took him to his home nearby to nurse him back to health.

His father author of "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," wrote a poem of this incident in which he describes the long and heartbreaking search for his son in the camps of the wounded.

Years later, after Justice Holmes had won fame on the supreme court, a stranger appeared at the door of his red brick home on I street in Washington.

• • •

Upon inquiring for Justice Holmes, he was told that the justice could not see him; that the justice never saw strangers at his home. The visitor requested the butler to ask Mr. Holmes if he remembered the lad who picked him up near death on the battlefield.

Holmes heard the question and immediately ordered that the visitor be admitted. And for a long time the two sat in his study reminiscing.

It was in March of 1841 that "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" wrote: "My Dear Aunt: Last evening between 8 and 9 there appeared at No. 8 Montgomery place a little individual who may be hereafter addressed as —— Holmes Esq., or the Hon. —— Holmes, M. C., or His Excellency —— Holmes, President, etc., etc., but who for the present is content with scratching his face and sucking his right forefinger."

That was almost ninety-one years ago. How near the father's prophecy has been borne out now everybody knows.

Theater News and Reviews

EXCELLENT CAST IN 'HELL DIVERS' MAKES IT A GOOD PICTURE

Good direction, a good cast and a good story make "Hell Divers" at the Palace tonight and Tuesday an excellent picture. It has thrills laughs and a tear or two, with Wallace Beery taking acting honors. He and Clark Gable are rivals in the air squadron aboard the airplane carrier Saratoga The air scenes are the most thrilling ever pictured The navy's crack pilots assisted in filming this picture and their stunt flying is breath-taking The picture tells the story of naval aviation from the viewpoint of the enlisted man There are a few brief interludes of the love affairs of Beery with Marjorie Rambeau and Gable with Dorothy Jordan Cliff Edwards, John Miljan and Conrad Nagel are excellent in their small roles H H

"CORSAIR" AT OHIO THRILLING PICTURE OF HIJACKER AT SEA

"Corsair," at the Ohio theater through Tuesday, is a fast moving tale of a football hero from a small western town, disillusioned by the big city and Wall Street, who turns into a hi-jacker on the high seas Chester Morris has the lead, supported capably by Alison Loyd (formerly Thelma Todd), Frank McHugh, Fred Kohler and others.

Mrris enters the employ of Miss Loyd's father in Wall Street, but his scruples prevent him carrying on some of the practices. He then adopts as his motto, "When you retire, it's not how you got your money, but how much you have." From then on, the story is based on his career on the "Corsair," as a hi jacker in a big way. McHugh, his closest friend is his partner

After some stirring sea battles Morris and Miss Loyd realize their affection and join up to run the ship as An organdy cast in a real picture and news reels are the best

MARION PICTURE IS DIFFERENT

"Are These Our Children" which last night began a three day run at the Marion theater is a "different" show in its story presentation and its characters

Dealing with the "problems of youth" the show is ultra modern Eric Linden, starting as an earnest high school lad becomes disappointed over his failure to make good in a school contest gradually loses his love for his boyhood sweetheart drifts into amateur gang activities, and climaxes his arrogant acts by murdering a guard

At the judge and Linden's other gang associates handle their parts capably. The show carries a moral is filled with action and drama, and sustains interest throughout

EST CST MT PT

Six nights a week; 10:30—10:45 (Eastern Standard Time.) The rich baritone of Alex Gray, romantic star of stage and screen...a large and splendidly-balanced orchestra of first rank, drawing from all that is tuneful in today's music. This is one of radio's "high spots."

● ALEX GRAY, popular soloist

"How he can sing!" is the universal comment. A rising star of musical comedy stage and screen, and with rare gifts of personality and voice, Mr. Gray's stirring baritone is ideal for radio and for the romantic and colorful ballads which he sings so well. An addition to radio's first-line artists, and an important figure in "Music that Satisfies."

CO-ED RANKS AS STAR FISH TRAINER

SAN DIEGO Calif Miss Ruth Hunt San Diego State college student leads the strangest co-ed hobby She trains star fish

It would surprise collectors of sea curios who have dried and stuffed star fish on their mantles to know that Miss Hunt is able to teach the five pointed creatures to turn cart wheels, do the cake walk and march around like a squad of soldiers at drill

"Star fish are apt pupils," Miss Hunt said "Teaching them is fascinating Star fish are a good deal like men The way to their hearts is through their stomachs

"They are very fond of oysters," the girl scientist explained. "They will perform almost any of the simple tricks I teach them in order to get a nice plump bivalve"

The star fish at dinner is an interesting sight He stands up on the tips of his five arms, or legs and straddles the oysters Then the star fish clutches the shells with his tube-like appendages and after opening the "valve" eats the oyster with great relish. He asks no lemon or tabasco sauce with his meal

Keep Windows Up, Heads Bare If Eyes Are To Be Beautiful

BY JOSEPHINE BUDDLESTON.

CLEAR, sparkling eyes that reveal health and a love of life are beauty assets which every maiden longs for Still literally hundreds of girls and women do not give their eyes the attention required to enhance, instead of detract from, their personal appearance

Red, swollen eyes which appear to have spent long hours weeping eyes with dark circles under them which suggest lack of sufficient sleep and rest, puffiness under the eyes which makes an observant individual feel inclined to suggest a trip to the doctor or the oculist, red rimmed eyes which reveal strain and neglect all ravish the face of the fresh loveliness and charm so essential to beauty

Incidentally, about 80 per cent of these beauty blemishes can be remedied at home by correcting the cause, usually a very simple one, and preventing the return of whatever is responsible

For example a great percentage of puffiness and circles under the eyes is caused by improper ventilation In the sleeping room, sufficient sleep in a room that has an abundance of fresh air circulating through it being of major importance to the beauty of the eyes as well as to one's general health

The room should be filled with fresh air so that the lungs can breathe deeply of this purifying agent and so help the body to throw off the toxins which have been forming in it The room should be filled with fresh air so that, once expelled, these toxins can be swept away instead of remaining in the room to be taken into the system again

The Importance of Fresh Air

Sleeping in a room without proper ventilation becomes a matter of taking back into the system the poisons it has thrown off Besides other ill effects of this, puffiness and circles under the eyes result

Therefore we frequently find that a change of sleeping arrangements to permit better circulation clears up these troubles within a few days or weeks

Also many people who do plan for ample air circulation in their sleeping room, crawl down under the covers and so do not gain the advantage of the fresh air they permit to enter their room Heads must be kept in the open

If you are troubled with dark circles swelling and redness of the eyes and the condition doesn't respond to the above suggestions continue the ventilation treatment, of course, but try also the suggestions outlined in my next article

How Do Dancers Manage?

The professional engagements of a dancer make no allowance for the trying time of a woman's monthly sickness. Yet her menstruating must not interfere with her easy, effortless performance. Such women do not "fight" periodic pain, but avoid it. They use Midol, and do not suffer even a twinge of menstrual pain. Why don't you meet these monthly emergencies with this remarkable modern discovery? Midol takes pain off the calendar Monthly martyrdom is foolish. For Midol is as harmless as the aspirin tablet you take for your headache! All drug stores; just ask for Midol.

see where I come she's—she's—in love

I said sharply. 'She's with him than I months six weeks she'll run a mile if ght of him, and way to avoid him; but just now, as is almost every girl at some time or another she's being swept off her feet by the flattery which lies in the attentions of a polished, attractive, older man.

"If Mr. Owen were a chivalrous gentleman I should not interfere, nor permit anyone else to do so. It would be just one of the 'thrills' Isn't that the word you modern youngsters use"—to which every girl is more or less entitled. It wouldn't do her a bit of harm and it certainly wouldn't be worth jealousy or even resentment upon the part of any young man who cared for her.

"But I am afraid Mr. Owen is anything but chivalrous, and has no claim to the title of gentleman. We, all of us, do not think he has any genuine affection for Marion."

"He's been giving a very effective imitation," Ronald interrupted, in a tone resembling a growl.

"No doubt. He's exceedingly clever. But we are afraid he means to marry her, if he can manage it, for some reason we have not yet fathomed."

A shiver ran over Ronald's sensitive face, and I knew that it was going on down his spine.

"But I can't do anything about it," he said dully. "She—she won't look at me any more since—"

"That's just the thing about which I wish to talk to you," I told him. "You're the only one who can help us."

Telling Ronald the Plan

I never have worked harder in my life than I did in the next few minutes to put my fantastic scheme before Ronald and gain his consent to it. But I had my reward when at last a look of desperate determination came into his fine eyes, and he sprang from the garden bench upon which we had been sitting and struck the fist of one hand into the palm of the other.

"All right," he said. "I'll go through with it. I'll do anything you want me to, until you tell me the danger's over, and that she's safe from that that scoundrel! But after that, I'm through. I don't want ever to—ever to—"

There was a tremolo in his voice and I knew that the boy was perilously near to breaking. The first boyish romance, that sweetest of all idylls, had been roughly shaken, and he would not be able for some time to use the humorous perspective that it demanded. I jumped to my feet and consulted my wrist watch frantically.

"We'll have to hurry," I said worriedly. "I told Katie I'd take a last look at the table before dinner, and I had no idea it was so late."

I put my hand on his arm and hurried him to the house chattering of inconsequential things as we went. Just before we reach d the house I said casually:

The Stage Is Set

"Remember, tonight I only want you to lay the foundation for all this. Noel will be at the dinner, as I have told you, and I do not want him upset. But I do want you to give the impression of being interested in whatever Mary is saying, a sort of suppressed admiration—and I also want you to ignore Marion as much as you can without being discourteous."

"I can do that all right," Ronald muttered. I drew a relieved breath as I saw that his natural, boyish resentment was conquering his grief, and that my scheme would not be thwarted by any softening on his part toward the girl who had flouted him.

But I sympathized with the man sitting on top of the powder barrel, with firecrackers going off all around him, as I gave the last touches to the dinner table and bade Katie ring the old Chinese bell that summons us of the farmhouse family to our meals.

CHAPTER ONE

Beautiful Young Problem

HOPE FAIRFIELD ROSS was the prettiest, richest and most envied girl in town.

None of which was to Hope's credit. God gave her her looks, her parents supplied the money, and the other girls of the distinguished Westchester settlement gave her the doubtful compliment of genuine envy.

Hair the color of buttercups is seldom a drawback to any girl. Hope had fun like that, and knew how to cut it so that it formed a tousled, rippling halo for her impudent if somewhat wistful little face. She knew how to brush that hair until it gleamed like glossed silk. And best of all, she knew what hats to buy and at just what angle to wear them. She better to disconcert you with, my dear.

Her hair being the greatest of Hope's natural resources, it took time before one noticed the other attractions about the sophisticated young upstart. The sassy mouth for example; or the sprinkle of grubby little freckles which, having been acquired in the days when Hope was a tomboy unmitigated to the wiles of lipstick and Orchidee Bleue had valiantly and resolutely clung to her cheeks and her abbreviated nose becoming vulgarly vivid whenever Hope cried.

Not that Hope cried very often. Were sorrow and tears made for one whose fair skin in spite of the freckles reminded folks of clover fields and scented linen and good fresh soap? Or whose cuddly little figure thoroughly disguised the endurance of an athlete and the nervous strength of a lady tiger? A nice lady tiger, it's true, but a lady tiger just the same.

Up to the age of 17, Hope had the grandest and best parents in the world. What they did to their precious offspring at that tender age is the cause of this story. But prior to that time, they adored petted spoiled admired and exclaimed with delight and approval. Even when Hope was naughty, the good Mama and Papa Ross were secretly proud and amused.

They remembered how at 14, Hope had suddenly turned right about face and resolutely concentrated upon becoming grown up.

The Cowboy was locked in some dark cell of Hope's skipjack wisdom and one observed clean fingernails with a haremish henna polish, a sultry, restless questioning in the hitherto unafraid and challenging blue eyes and an affected husky drawl in the erstwhile hydrotish voice.

By the end of one year of high school Hope invested in her first floppy picture hat, its back brim weighted with a huge pink satin bow. The effect quite completely disarmed Papa Ross, whose boastful gun turned into a blissful and shy ownership of this amazingly beautiful young problem.

She had suddenly realized her true mission in life, and was just as suddenly altering her entire mode and manner of behavior.

Gone, quite suddenly, were the velvet tam-o-shanters that had flattered Hope's bait. Gone, the blue serge gymbloomers, the middy blouses, the scurvy raincoats, and the leather-smelly lumber-jackets. Gone, gradually, were the fine handembroidered batiste and linen underthings, the gum-soled brogans, the woolen sports stockings and the straight up-and-down dresses that smacked of the "Junior Misses."

For Hope had met boys whose voices had permanently changed along with many of their ideas. Startled and thrilled she discovered that males had other interests besides fist-fights, fishing and tinkering with a car. She who could hunt and swim and ride with the best of them, realized that these triumphs were not her outstanding virtues. She, who at 10 had run her legs off to fetch and carry for the lordly males that tolerated her because she was "pretty good for a girl," now found that she could command and domineer to a surprising and dizzying degree.

Papa Ross's charge accounts suffered painfully as a result. With the avid curiosity of a castaway exploring the wonders of a strange and lovely island, Hope moved through the mazes of New York City shops, leaving the lure of lace of chiffon of sheer clocked hose of high heeled slippers, and blended fur skins.

By the end of her sophomore year Hope had achieved the dignities of an evening wrap, a make-up box amply filled, a date book, monogrammed stationery, and a feminine boudoir, be taffeted and mirrored, with every drawer and every closet lined with quilted blue satin that was loaded to the seams with delicate sachet.

Like many a queen before her Hope became heady with her prowess. Her days were bounded on the north by notes and telephone calls, on the south by exciting and intriguing romantic quarrels, and on the east and west with the growing vision of newer and more daring male conquests.

"It is," said Mama Ross whitely to her husband, "nothing short of disgraceful. Hope is boy crazy!"

"Now, Mother!" Papa Ross chewed on his after-dinner cigar and used his most mollifying tone. "It's just a phase. A perfectly normal, healthy phase that I suppose every girl must go through."

"Oh, you do suppose that?" echoed Mrs. Ross with neat sarcasm. "Well, you don't see Goody making a fool of herself, do you?"

Their eyes met for a moment, and Mrs. Ross flushed slowly. Papa Ross stared at her, and then took refuge in his handkerchief to hide the three-cornered smile that might further irritate his wife.

Goody Ross -- whose nickname Hope had chosen and consistently used until the fine old name of Sarah was almost forgotten--was a model daughter; poised, intelligent, a tribute to her parents, to her schools, to her friends. Yet a daughter whose 20-year-old eyes were a bit clouded with longing with the lurking fear of her own particular heartache. Goody might be a model in her doting mother's eyes, but Goody was a little too fat. Goody was not popular. Goody had few beaus.

Living in the shadow of Hope's endless parade of admirers made it couldn't differ for the older girl. For all that Goody pretended to be engrossed in her literary pursuits, poring over volumes of free-stride verse into which she poured her hungry soul, the girl was human. A little too human to suit Papa Ross. For Goody was becoming warped by her need of flattering attention, and had given vent to frequent spiteful and petty revenges on her young and envied sister. Goody was given to tale-tattling and Papa Ross had more respect for a good thuggy bank-robber than he had for a tale-tattler.

Mrs. Ross cleared her throat nervously and realizing the painful subject she had inadvertently touched, hurried on with her arguments.

"I didn't believe that way when I was Hope's age," she announced with a wave of her jewel-ed hand that seemed to settle the argument. "Believe me I didn't of course Hope is very different from me in many ways."

A querulous note crept into her voice.

"She doesn't begin to be the girl you were, Molly darling!" Mr. Ross hadn't become Vice-president of two banks without a goodly share of tact. "But really, Mother, there's no hurry in her sprouting about! A bit in a few years she'll settle down."

"Yes! If she hasn't made a little fool of herself before then! I never heard of such foolishness as Hope goes on with!"

Mr. Ross let his tongue play with his teeth in an effort to hide amusement.

All men, so they say, have some particular and pet weakness, and Mr. Ross had been suspected ever since Hope from the day she would spot her infant self in his arms, when nobody else could quiet her. He did worry about the girl, but there was a boastful pride in the back of his mind in that need to worry. Deep in his gilt-edged old heart the child could do no real wrong.

Notwithstanding the broken windows. The unbelievable charge account totals, the firecrackers under old Dr. Rocker's buggy, the mile of picket fence painted with musical comedy four sheets swiped by Hope and her gang for a lunching and dancing party, even when the girl was close to perfect in her father's love-dimmed eyes. Girls will be girls and in a one household it's quite entertaining if a girl will be both son and daughter. Papa Ross paid Hope's piper with more than a delighted chuckle for all the blustering fireworks that had inspired the child to name him. Thor.

The master and mistress of the enormous estate in Westchester county that held behind its high red brick walls the legend of family name and financial power had suffered acute disappointments in the way of progeny throughout their years of young love. The death of a first-born before it had rounded a year, and the loss of a second son at the age of six, had cost the couple a grief that even time and silence could not entirely erase.

At a graciously resigned middle age, they had found themselves as a result of their dreams, the keepers of two utterly bewildering and puzzling daughters, Goody and Hope both mysteries that would puzzle any diplomatic efficiency expert.

Harding Five Trips Van Wert, 30-28 in Close Battle

PRESIDENTS' LINEUP REVAMPED AGAINST NON-LEAGUE QUINTET

Second Team Plays First Half; Ling Tops Scorers with 10 Points.

After dropping an N. C. O. league game Friday night to Shelby, the Harding High school basketeers jumped right back into the victory column Saturday night when they stepped up to Van Wert and handed the western Ohio team a 30-28 beating. The victory gives Harding a record of five wins and two defeats in seven starts to date this season.

The regulars having gone through a gruelling session with Shelby the previous night, Coach D. N. Bohyer started a combination against Van Wert that was composed partly of second string varsity players and partly of reserve material. The Presidents responded by immediately opening up a scoring spree that lasted all through the first period and saw Harding on the long end of a 9-1 advantage as the quarter ended.

Passing Game Cracks

The passing attack of Harding which functioned almost perfectly in the first ten minutes of competition, went to pieces in the second period. As a result Marion saw its comfortable advantage vanish into thin air as Van Wert bombarded the hoop with a succession of shots which brought the count to 13-11 for Van Wert as the half ended.

Trailing by one point with half the game gone, Bohyer replaced his second stringers with the lineup which with one exception has generally been considered as the first stringer. Billie Hero, regular forward was not in the game.

With the regulars on the court, the game suddenly became a temporary rout for Harding as Jack Ling led an assault on the hoop which carried the Presidents into another commanding lead within a few minutes. The Harding attack bogged down at this point just as suddenly as it had gotten under way and Van Wert climbed into a 24-24 deadlock shortly after the final period had gotten under way.

Harding rallied late in the fray and stepped out in front again but held the lead only by putting up a desperate fight against the fast-moving opponents.

Morgan, Whitcum Look Good

Dick Morgan and Maury Whitcum turned in stellar performances for the team which played the first half of the game. Jack Ling and John Blecher starred for the lineup of regulars, Ling topping the scorers with 10 points.

John Pickerel, a guard, was shifted to the forward position vacated by the injury to Billie Hero Pickerel was paired with Blecher, who bids fair to cinch a regular starting berth if he continues the work which marked his play against both Shelby and Van Wert. Fred Vestal took Pickerel's post at guard and played a nice game until forced to leave the contest on fouls.

GREEN CAMP LOSES TO CALEDONIA FIVE

Waldo Stops Prospect, Morral Wins in County Church League Conflicts.

After fighting their way from near the bottom of the standings to a post close to the top of the ladder the Green Camp Baptist Sunday school basketball team collided with the Caledonia Methodists Saturday night in a county church league conflict and right there the Baptists' hopes of gaining a first place position were blasted at least for the time being. Caledonia turned back the challenge of the Baptists by coming out on the long end of a 25-22 score.

The victory keeps Caledonia in a tie for first place with Waldo Reformed, the latter team winning from Prospect 35-27 in another Saturday night conflict. In the third clash, Morral won from Pleasant Trinity Lutheran, 41-17.

Green Camp and Caledonia put on a terrific scrap before Caledonia finally emerged the victor. The Baptists climbed into the lead as the game got under way and by some almost uncanny basket tossing kept there until there was something like three minutes of the game left for play.

Caledonia Rallies

As the game faded into the final minutes with Green Camp out in front, Caledonia launched a desperate rally and for the first time in the contest commenced connecting with the basket. In less time than it takes to tell about it, Green Camp saw its lead fade into history. The Baptists attempted to rally and pull the game out of the fire but Caledonia withstood every assault to retain the hold on the top position.

Prospect paced by Detwiler and Rodman, threw a scare into the ranks of the Waldo Reformed team as it took the lead in the opening period of the game and kept Waldo on the defensive practically all of the first two quarters. With Detwiler and Rodman sinking baskets from all over the court, Waldo trailed the fifth place team until the final seconds of the first half when a two-pointer put them one point in front.

Waldo Steps Out

Waldo came back strong in the third frame and launched an offense which Prospect could not stop although the losers made a determined bid to regain the lead and capture their third game of the season. Waldo's superior passing and team work kept them on the top of the heap.

Morral and Pleasant clashed in the nightcap encounter of the three-game bill and Morral romped all over the Trinity Lutheran five to win 41-17. Newland, Morral guard, hit the net for 13 points and was trailed by Heller and Mercer with 10 each.

HEAVYWEIGHTS ON WRESTLING CARD

Sultaman Bey, the Terrible Turk and Karl Davis, the sensational Columbus heavyweight will clash tonight in the main go of the regular weekly wrestling card at the Steam Shovel gym. They will wrestle in a two fall to win two-hour time limit affair.

Paddy Mack and Fred Moran, a pair of Irishmen, will get together in the semi-final match of the card, a 45 minute two falls to win bout.

The principals of the 20 minute preliminary have not been named but will probably be local boys.

THREE OHIO TEAMS IN CENTRAL LEAGUE

By The Associated Press

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 25 — Three Ohio teams and two others were listed today for places on the reorganized Central baseball league, and five other teams, three from the Buckeye state, were under consideration to round out the league.

Representatives of teams from Dayton, Akron and Canton, O., and from Fort Wayne, Ind., and Erie, Pa., yesterday posted $500 forfeitures to assure operation of the circuit. An additional $1,500 must be posted by each by March 1.

LIGHTWEIGHT TITLE AT STAKE TONIGHT

By The Associated Press

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 25 — An experienced ring campaigner and a youth fighting his sixteenth professional battle, match blows tonight for recognition by the National Boxing association as world's middleweight champion.

Gorilla Jones, Akron Negro, and Oddone Piazza, 22-year-old champion of Italy, compete for the title vacated by Mickey Walker. They are survivors of elimination tournament conducted here.

Former Champ Dies.

By The Associated Press

BUTTE, Mont., Jan. 25 — W. J. "Doc" Flynn, 64, who in 1890 held the world's amateur championship in boxing, wrestling and swimming, died today. He was a contender for the world's lightweight crown against Frank Erne at New York. He was defeated in the eighteenth round.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

THE sudden declaring ineligible of Carol Caris brilliant Harding basketball forward, has raised a feeling of apprehension concerning the possibility of Harding continuing to make a bid for the court championship of the North Central Ohio league. Caris was declared ineligible last Thursday by a ruling of H. R. Townsend, state commissioner of high school athletics, because he played in two amateur basketball games after the close of the regular high school season last year.

• • •

The loss of Caris, while not something to be looked at in a patricularly cheerful light, is not a loss that is irreparable. His absence may have had something to do with the beating which Harding took from Shelby but this was largely due to the fact Harding coaches had had no time to work another man into the lineup before the game. Caris having been declared ineligible only one day before the game.

• • •

Those individuals who have been wailing that Harding is "lost" without Caris are badly mistaken. John Biecher who filled in the post against Shelby and Van Wert shows promise of being equally as valuable to the team. With the practice which he will get this week, Biecher should bring the team up to a par with the one wich took the floor with Caris at forward.

• • •

The Presidents are still very much in the race for the championship. They may or may not win it. I hope to see the long-awaited flag come to Marion this season, but whether it does or does not there is one thing certain Harding will carry on—without Caris! The fight which thus far this season has marked the difference between the Harding team of this season and former seasons, is still present. As long as it remains, the Presidents will have considerable to say as to who wins the championship!

It's an ill wind that blows nobody good and the loss of Caris for further scholastic competition is no exception to the rule.

Hardly had Carol been declared ineligible than he was "signed" to play with the Shovel Y Indus club, the city's leading amateur cage organization. Caris will get his first chance in independent circles tonight as the Y-Indus treks to Leipsic for a return engagement with the Leipsic Merchants. He should make an excellent man for the Y-Indus as his style of play appears ideally suited to their system of play.

Gus Culbertson Tightens Hold on Scoring Lead

Gus Culbertson of Shelby tightened his stranglehold on first place in the individual scoring column of the North Central Ohio league last Friday night against Harding when he dumped in a total of 15 points. The seven field goals and one charity toss boosted Culbertson's giant total for the season to 48 points, putting him out in front of his nearest competitor, Inwood Smith of Mansfield, by 17 points.

Carol Caris, despite the fact he did not play, clung to fourth place in the standings with his total of 23 points.

Harding was the only school in the circuit to add new point getters to the list last week, Biecher turning in eight markers to take twenty fifth place and Fred Vestal recording six to take the twenty-eighth position. A total of 42 players have tallied points this season.

The complete record for the league:

ONE UNBEATEN IN BILLIARDS TOURNEY

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 25 — Tickets to seeing Jake Schaefer of San Francisco, Augie Kieckhefer of Chicago, today was the only undefeated player in the world's 18.2 balkline billiards champion tournament.

Kieckhefer and Cal Rister of Philadelphia, started the second week of the tourney undefeated but Schaefer found himself in eight and played brilliantly to defeat the Philadelphian, 50 to 21 in 40 innings.

TOURNAMENT SKED

Galion Draws Norwalk in First Game on March 3.

When Coach Fred McClintock's Galion Orangemen take the court for the first game in tournament competition this season on March 3 it will be against opposition provided by Norwalk High school. These teams are booked to open the Class A district tournament play at Sandusky. The Sandusky tourney will play three days, March 3, 4 and 5.

The complete pairings for the tourney are as follows:

March 3: Norwalk and Galion.

March 4: Port Clinton and Shelby; Sandusky and Willard, Mansfield and Ashland and winner of the Norwalk-Galion game and Bye.

March 5: Winner of Bellevue-Crestline-Norwalk and winner of Port Clinton-Shelby, winner of Sandusky-Willard and winner of Mansfield-Ashland. The two victors will meet in the finals.

SEMESTER EXAMS TO CUT CAGE SCHEDULE IN OHIO THIS WEEK

Five Ohio Conference Games, Two Buckeye A. A. Contests Slated.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 25 — With both the Ohio conference and the Buckeye Athletic association play wide open races, there doesn't seem much chance of untangling the situation this week, due to semester examinations.

Case, Mount Union and Xavier remain undefeated in the conference circuit, while all Buckeye contenders have tasted defeat. This week will see only five Ohio conference games and two in the Buckeye.

Two of the Ohio games will find Kenyon and Wooster attempting to pull Case from the top of the ladder. Kenyon on Wednesday and Wooster on Saturday.

The Buckeye contests will take place Saturday night, Denison playing at Wittenberg and Miami at Wabash. Miami saw its winning streak broken Saturday night when Cincinnati saw its losing streak shattered when the Bearcats won from the Redskins, 32 to 2[illegible].

In other games Saturday Muskingum downed Heidelberg, 34 to 25; Baldwin-Wallace took Ohio Wesleyan, 45 to 29, while Wooster won scoring honors of the week-end with a 66 to 15 triumph over Marietta and Otterbein won a two overtime period battle from Ohio river boys winning 14 to 13, and Xavier trounced Dayton, 34 to 15; Mount Union walloped Kenyon, 55 to 22; Findlay trounced Akron, 49 to 34, and Western Reserve won its first game in [illegible] from Ohio Wesleyan, 50 to 42. Carroll lost to Westminster, 32 to 23, and Ohio State lost its first game of the season, dropping a 31 to 24 game to Northwestern, the Wildcats winning on a free throw in the last 30 seconds of play.

This week, on Thursday night the Buckeyes will entertain Michigan.

NEVERS INJURED IN CHARITY GRID GAME

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. [illegible] — Pounding over a 26 to 14 victory the Knights of Columbus [illegible] football game here yesterday, Ernie Nevers, former all-American fullback player of Sanford university broke his left wrist in the first play.

The win was over Frank Cinderella's all-stars.

PRINCELY CRITIC

Declaring that if Soviet Russia's five-year plan turns out a success, America will not be benefited, Prince Theodore Romanoff (above) flays the American engineers who serve the Communists, designating them as "a disgrace to their country." Prince Romanoff is a son of Grand Duke Alexander of Russia and a relative of the late Czar Nicholas II. Photo was made in Los Angeles, where the prince is vacationing.

... of Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, New York Central, Pennsylvania, Missouri Pacific, New Haven, Santa Fe, Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, U. S. Steel, American Tobacco and Liggett & Myers shares. Allied Chemical & Aniline, Union Carbide, Sears, Woolworth, General Foods, National Biscuit, Westinghouse, American Can, Case, Consolidated Gas and others. Auburn pushed up more than 3.

In advance of U. S. Steel's dividend meeting tomorrow afternoon, traders were inclined to keep to the sidelines. There has not been an inkling as to what action will be taken, but firmness of the stock reflected opinion that another quarterly payment of $1 was a possibility, and that probably at least 50 cents a share would be forthcoming.

GRAIN PRICES MOVELOWER

Enlargement of World Shipments Aids in Bearish Influence.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 25—Grain prices averaged lower early today, enlargement of world shipments of wheat together with absence of aggressive buying rather than any unusual pressure to sell formed the chief bearish influence. Opening unchanged to ¼ down, wheat afterward sagged all around. Corn started unchanged to ¼ higher and subsequently reacted.

A striking increase of world shipments of wheat to 19,101,000 bushels this week was in contrast with 16,646,000 last week and 15,515,000 a year ago. The amount of wheat on ocean passage was 46,840,000 bushels compared with 40,... last week and 31,832,000 at this time last year. Augmented exports from Argentina and Australia were especially conspicuous.

Advices persisted that Argentine wheat was offered freely abroad, that Australia was a willing seller, and that United States wheat, dear in comparison, was neglected. It was also asserted that European countries were holding off as long as possible from purchasing, and would not ease import restrictions until compelled by necessity. International financial difficulties were likewise construed as bearish. Favorable weather for corn movement tended to ease corn and oats.

Provisions were neglected.

SNOW SPORT QUEEN

WATER RATES HERE HIGHEST IN STATE

Ohio Municipal League Issues Summary of Charges for Service.

Marion residents pay the highest water rate in the state, according to a rate book just issued by the Ohio Municipal league. The local rate is $4.50 for the first 1,000 cubic feet in sharp contrast with the rate of 20 cents for the first 1,000 cubic feet paid in Dover, Norwalk, West Alexandria and Willard.

Local water service is furnished by one of 17 privately owned water companies whose rates were included in the survey. One hundred and forty-seven plants surveyed were municipally owned.

In municipally owned plants rates ranged from 20 cents to $4.47 with an average of $1.19 for 120 communities. In privately owned plants rates varied from 51 cents to $4.50 an average of $1.18.

Comparisons of water rates are difficult to make, it is pointed out in a foreword of the survey. No two communities have exactly the same local conditions, some water being furnished consumers without any treatment while other water must be treated extensively. The local plant chemically treats and softens water.

Surveys of electric gas telephone, heat and street railway rates of various Ohio cities will be made by the league in the near future.

RAIL WORKERS HEAR PENSION PLAN TALK

Chicago Man Tells of Measure To Be Introduced in Congress.

Proposed plans for presenting a national pension plan for railroad workers to congress in February were detailed and explained yesterday afternoon by W. W. Royster, of Chicago, chairman of the Railroad Employes' National Pension Association Inc., in an address in Eagles' hall. About 250 Marion railroad workers were present.

According to Royster's talk, the plan will be ready to be introduced to congress by Feb. 10. He explained various phases of the plan and answered questions concerning it.

The meeting was sponsored by Marion Pension Club, No 310, a branch of the national association. George M. Webb, chairman, presided. The speaker was introduced by H. M. Young. A number of new members were enrolled.

CLASS MEETS WITH MRS. CARRIE WAFFLE

Twenty-two members and guests of the Fidelis class of the First Church of the Nazarene, met Saturday night with Mrs. Carrie Waffle of 881 east Church street. Miss Mary Brady assisted her sister as hostess. Games, riddles and contests were enjoyed, followed by a short business session. The group was seated at a large table in the dining room where a covered dish lunch was served. Instrumental and vocal music by Mr. and Mrs. Dale Sparks was a feature of the lunch hour.

RETURN MAN HERE ON FORGERY CHARGE

Ross Fidler is facing charges of check forgery in municipal court following his return to Marion Saturday night from Tuscola, Ill., in custody of county authorities.

Fidler is a native of Tuscola and makes that city his home, although he spent several months here a year ago. He is charged with forging the name of S. R. Wooley on checks drawn on the Marion County and Marion National banks for $5.95 and $6.90, respectively.

HAD BAD HEALTH

"My general health has been bad for sometime and I was run down and constipated. My kidneys did not act properly and I was forced to get up several times during the night. I also was troubled with neuritis.

"TON-GEE was recommended to me and I decided to give it a trial. How glad I am that I did. My appetite is good, I sleep well, my bowels are regular and the neuritis has left me. TON-GEE certainly has benefited me and I am glad to recommend it to anyone."

Mr. Jacob Bisher of Wilmington, Ohio said that about TON-GEE. It is just one of many good will testimonials we have received from satisfied users. Why go through all the ailments and aches and pains which are bound to come to you if you have BODY POISONS. TON-GEE assists nature in eliminating Toxic MATTER from the system. Each ingredient of this medicine has its special function to perform. FEEL FIT and ENJOY GOOD HEALTH — TAKE TON-GEE.
